

Workshop: Disease and International Relations

Programme

09:30-09:50	Registration
09:50-10:00	Opening Remarks
10:00-11:00	Session 1 Jeong-Ran Kim (University of Oxford) From End of Empire to Cold War: US military and Disease Control in Korea, 1945-46 Sławomir Łotysz (Institute for the History of Science of the Polish Academy of Sciences, Warsaw) Humanitarianism and Propaganda: Eastern European Medical Assistance to North Korea, 1950-1957
11:00-11:20	Refreshments
11:20-12:20	Session 2 Céline Paillette (Université Paris 1 Panthéon Sorbonne, UMR SIRICE, Committee for History of INSERM) International Epidemic control, the whole and the part of the Entente cordiale, c. 1900-1920. A history of Epidemics Diplomacy Benoît Pouget (Sciences Po Aix) French and/or international? Malaria control in French West & Equatorial Africa 1945-1960
12:20-13:30	Lunch (speakers and audience)
13:30-15:00	Session 3 Koji Ozaki (Otemae University) Quarantine Issues in 1870s Japan: Mainly about the Quarantine Committee meetings of 1878 Hyon-Ju Lee (Dankook University) Foot-and-Mouth Disease, Cowpox Vaccine, and Anti-Vaccination in Early Twentieth-Century America Hohee Cho (University of Oxford) The Making of a Frontline Laboratory: The United States Naval Medical Research Unit No.2 and Wartime Colonial Medicine
15:00-15:20	Refreshments
15:20-16:20	Keynote Speech Mark Harrison (University of Oxford) A Study in Extra-Territorial Health Intervention: The League of Nations Epidemic Commission in Greece, 1922-1923
16:20-16:30	Closing Remarks